SZABIST Rule of Law Centre (SRLC)

Our Rule of Law Centre aims to raise awareness with respect to the implementation of rule of law in Pakistan. The Centre not only intends to bring to attention the practical, legal and social issues that encumber the legal system but also enables aspiring advocates to affect policy change to cater the same. SRLC is, therefore, engaged in organizing various workshops and conferences to invite aspirants to ponder over various socio-legal issues.

Additionally, SRLC invests in multiple alternative dispute resolution mechanism trainings to ensure awareness amongst law students. The SRLC ensures our law students are well receptive to the change in the legal dynamics and are able to perform exceptionally at external, national as well as international forums.

SZABIST Law Society

The Law Society is a student society comprising of undergraduate law students which is run by student representatives. An annual election is held as per the constitution of the SLS for appointment of students to the various offices of President, Vice-President, Treasurer, etc. The elected members are responsible for organizing several student related activities in conjunction with the SZABIST Student Council. This not only includes social activities like the Beach Trip but also Guest Speaker sessions, SZABMoot and the annual High Court Trip. The SLS also acts as a liaison between SZABIST and various law firms, which are the prospective employers of the LLB students.

The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC)

The ICRC is an international organization which directs and coordinates international relief activities and endeavors to prevent suffering by promoting and strengthening humanitarian law and universal humanitarian principles. SZABIST law has the honor to be working in partnership with ICRC for its Health Care in Danger initiative which is part of the ICRC's global initiative aimed at addressing the issue of violence against patients, health workers, facilities, vehicles and ensuring safe access to and delivery of health care.

As part of this initiative, SZABIST Law's faculty and students worked on the project "Raasta Dein" which lead to amendments in Sindh's Motor Vehicle Ordinance ensuring a right of way for ambulances and introducing punishments for any who obstruct it.

SZABIST Law is currently working with the ICRC on a research based project designed to identify the existing problems and dangers faced by various types of healthcare workers, whilst they conduct their duties on site (hospitals, clinics, etc.) and off-site (medical camps, drives, etc.)

Guest Speaker Sessions

SZABIST Law recognizes the importance of maintaining a connection with those practically involved in various aspects of the legal field and of providing students the chance to interact with and learn from such professionals. As such, we conduct guest speaker sessions throughout the year on various topics depending on student interest and requirements.

Career Counselling

We not only believe in providing support to our students during their time at university but wish to help them find their feet beyond its walls as well. To that effect, SZABIST makes various efforts to counsel students with respect to career-building. Apart from our faculty having an approachable attitude, they're also involved in arranging career counselling sessions to discuss with the students the options available to them after graduation and help them choose the one best suited for them.

One of the key players in this respect is SZABIST's Executive Development Centre (EDC). The EDC organizes yearly career fairs to enable students to interact with prospective employers which include leading multi-national companies and gain job opportunities. Law students are afforded opportunities to be employed in the legal departments of such corporations.
